Custom & Specialty

Due to our broad experience, we are very comfortable taking on new and complex challenges.

Armor Mobile Systems has always treated purchasing a special-purpose mobile unit as if we were forming a partnership with our customers. Through extensive discussions, we ask our customers precisely what they envision. Combined with our experience, we deliver a functional trailer to achieve their stated business objectives.

We work to ensure our products meet program, equipment, geographic, and budgetary needs.

Custom & Specialty Mobile Unit Example

Our customer, Nomad Transportable Power Systems, worked in partnership with us to build various trailer sizes to store battery production equipment for mobilized energy storage.

The resulting transportable power systems provide energy for natural disaster relief and an alternative clean energy source to address peak demands. With various solar and wind power generation being added to existing electrical grids, battery storage is essential to ensure the reliability of increased demand while eliminating air emissions.
